For all those seeking a painting schema where ultimate colours shown are closer to the base coating applied at start – perhaps more intuitive than those shown at Minairons figures box reverses. Useful too for those willing to be offered multiple choices.

Tip 1: Requeté militiamen used to wear helmet when in campaign, so becoming hardly distinguishable from a Regular infantryman except for their chest patches.

Tip 2: If your base coat uses to be darker than ultimate layers, then 70-823 or the even deeper 70-924 Russian Uniform WWII are OK for tunic and trousers; otherwise, it would be advisable to choose 70-922 instead (green brightness can be reduced by mixing it with a drop of 70-879 Green Brown).
